

Agenda
SPACE WEATHER AS A GLOBAL CHALLENGE
George C. Marshall Center, U.S. Department of State, Washington, D.C.
April 4, 2016

- 8:15 – 8:50 Arrival and Registration
- 9:00 – 9:15 Welcome Remarks
- U.S. Department of State, Judy Garber, Acting Assistant Secretary, for Oceans and International Environmental and Scientific Affairs
 - Secure World Foundation, Victoria Samson, Director, Washington Office
- 9:15 – 10:15 U.S. Government Efforts: Research, Operations, and Preparedness
- National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Steven W. Clarke, Division Director for Heliophysics
 - National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, Terrance Onsager, Physicist, National Space Weather Prediction Center
 - U.S. Air Force, Col. Michael Gremillion, Chief, Weather Strategic Plans and Interagency Integration Division
 - Department of Homeland Security, Jacob Anderson, Senior Analyst, Office of Infrastructure Protection
 - White House Office of Science and Technology Policy, William Murtagh, Assistant Director for Space Weather (moderator)
- 10:15 – 10:30 Break
- 10:30 – 11:45 International Efforts: Cooperation and Coordination
- United Kingdom, Mark Gibbs, Head of Space Weather, UK Met Office
 - European Space Agency, Juha-Pekka Luntama, Space Weather Manager, SSA Programme Office
 - World Meteorological Organization, Jérôme Lafeuille, Senior Scientific Officer, WMO Space Programme Office
 - UN Committee on Peaceful Uses of Outer Space, Ian Mann, Chairman and Rapporteur, UN COPUOS Space Weather Expert Group; and Professor Univ. of Alberta
 - North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Patrick Mendonca, Co-Chairman, Industrial Resources and Communications Services Group, Civil Preparedness Section, Operations Division; and U.S. Postal Service
 - Secure World Foundation, Laura Delgado López (moderator)
- 11:45 – 12:00 Closing Remarks
- White House Office of Science and Technology Policy, Tamara Dickinson, Principal Assistant Director for Environment & Energy
 - U.S. Department of State, Jonathan Margolis, Acting Deputy Assistant Secretary for Science, Space, and Health
-